

Stamford CT - The Stamford Loft Artist Association, 845 Canal Street will be presenting "Transformations". The exhibition can be seen in the LAA gallery Friday, February 17th through Sunday, March 18th. The opening reception is Friday evening, February 17th, 6 to 8 pm.

We are using the recycled materials to make art, just in time for everyone to start thinking about "spring cleaning" and all those goodies that can be turned into art instead of ending up in the trashcan!

It is a joy to discover found objects everywhere - stuff that can be turned into wonderful works of art - "Transformations".

"Don't throw that away!" I must say that to my husband at least once a week - says Susan Frey, mixed media artist and chairperson of the exhibition. The LAA gallery will be filled with treasures from reused stuff. Artwork on display will be featuring old CD's, shredded junk mail, zippers, plastic jugs, matches, nuts, bolts, cereal boxes, teabags, and a variety of other household and organic items. Please join the 14 LAA members participating in this whimsical show!

The Stamford Loft Artists Association is a non-profit organization that continues to serve Stamford and it's the South End area with events and shows to further the public's artistic and cultural exposure.

LAA Gallery hours are 12 to 5 pm, Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays.

Opening Art Reception for "Transformations" is Friday, February 17th, 6 to 8 pm.
